How to get to the venue:

The Darmstadtium is conveniently located in the heart of the Frankfurt/Rhine-Main region with direct access to the A5 and A67 motorways. Frankfurt International Airport can be reached by car in 20 minutes and by rail or the AirLiner shuttle bus in about 30 minutes. The AirLiner stops directly in front of the Darmstadtium and runs every 30 minutes. Darmstadt's central railway station is only a few minutes away from the Science and Congress Centre and can easily be reached by both car and public transport.

By public transport:

Darmstadt's central railway station is only about 10 minutes away from the Darmstadtium and can easily be reached by transport. It's a 20 min train ride from Frankfurt main station (trains coming in from all over Germany and internationally from France, Switzerland, Holland, Austria etc.) to Darmstadt main station. From there, take the bus line "K" in the direction of "Darmstadt Alfred-Messel-Weg". After 7 stops you will reach the station "Darmstadt Alexanderstraße/TU". Leave the bus and walk to the venue (approximately 2 minutes).

By car:

Darmstadt has direct access to the A5 and A67 motorways. Darmstadtium has an underground car park (Per 60-minute period or part thereof: €2.40; max. daily fee or fee if parking ticket is lost: €15.00). The Science and Congress Centre has its own underground car park with spaces for 454 cars (including disabled parking spaces). There are an additional 2,000 parking spaces for visitors in other nearby underground car parks. Most of them are linked to the Science and Congress Centre's parking facilities. This applies in particular to the car park of the neighbouring Welcome Hotel.

Please note that Darmstadt has a large environmental zone that can only be entered by vehicles with a green disc. Darmstadtium is also located in this zone.
